Because

PERSEVERANCE and patience are supposed to be among the prime requisites for success in almost any worth-while undertaking. For example, the endeavor to show you exhibitors the value of advertising your Short Features, for the good of your own box-offices.

Every one of you seemed to have come from Missouri! At least you had to be shown—by the efforts of some other exhibitor.

Well, all of you who are willing to be shown must see now. Certainly there are enough examples on all sides of better exploitation of the Short Features—that has brought in the extra dollars at the ticket window.

Now here's the latest case of waking to the box-office value of Short Features. It's a case that even the worst Doubting Thomas can't muff.

Educational Pictures have just been signed up 100 per cent for the great Pacific Northwest Theatres circuit. And Harry C. Arthur, Jr., president and general manager, writes:

"I have notified our managers of the acquisition of Educational output for the coming season, and instructed them to advertise these subjects as much as possible in their programs and other mediums."

The manager of every one of the big Pacific Northwest houses under definite instructions to advertise his Educational Pictures as much as possible! Why? Because these great showmen, who have long been in the habit of advertising the whole show, know through experience that it pays to exploit quality Short Features.

And if it pays for them, it will pay for YOU.

An Explanation

THE Booking Guide returns to its original size with this issue after an experiment of making it of equal proportions as Motion Picture News.

The change did not meet the approval of the exhibitors and they told us so in countless letters.

The small size book is handy, they said. It meets every need, without bulk. So we agree with them, in spite of certain publishing reasons, which would make the larger size preferable to us.

::: "THE CHECK-UP":::

"The Check-Up" is a presentation in the briefest and most convenient form of reports received from exhibitors in every part of the country on current features, which makes it possible for the exhibitor to see what the picture has done for other theatre managers.

The first column following the name of the feature represents the number of managers that have reported the picture as "Poor." The second column gives the number who considered it "Fair"; the third, the number who considered it "Good"; and the fourth column, those who considered it "Big,"

The fifth column is a percentage figure giving the average rating on that feature, obtained by the following method: A report of "Poor" is rated at 20%; one of "Fair," 40%; "Good," 70%; and "Big," 100%. The percentage ratings of all of these reports on one picture are then added together, and divided by the number of reports, giving the average percentage—a figure which represents the consensus of opinion on that picture. In this way exceptional cases, reports which might be misleading taken alone, and such individual differences of opinion are averaged up and eliminated.

No picture is included in the list which has not received at least ten reports.
